SHOPMEN'S DELEGATES REJECT WILSON'S OFFER

Drastic Amendment To Peace Treaty Adopted By Committee

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 26.—Under a blanket amendment to the peace treaty, agreed to today by the senate, foreign relations committee, American representation would be eliminated from the various international commissions, which are to supervise Europe on reconstruction with the exception of the reparations commission and such others as are to be appointed by the League of Nations.

The change would affect about a score of commissions and would change the language of the treaty in more than 50 places.

The committee divided along strict party lines with nine Republican votes cast in the affirmative and seven Democratic votes in the negative. Not all of the Democrats were present, but by agreement their votes were cast. Senator McPherson, of North Dakota, who voted with the Democrats in opposition to the Shantung amendment, adopted Saturday, was the only Republican absent. His vote was not cast.

Although the committee acted specifically on only four of the treaty provisions in question, there was an agreement that the votes on these separate provisions would be only perfunctory and to carry into effect the blanket proposal.

The amendments were presented by Senator Fall, Republican, New Mexico, who said he expected the reparations commission because there were certain divisions affecting American shipping in this involved in the commission's work.

The change also has no effect on provisions like that regarding the Saar basin, where the commission is to be appointed by the league.

SNOW FELL!

HORNELL, N. Y., August 26.—Although the sun was shining, snow fell for five minutes today, melting as rapidly as it struck the ground.

SEEK FEDERAL CONTROL OF COAL MINES

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 26.—Nationalization of the coal mines is sought by many mine workers and a bill to that end has been prepared, Harry N. Taylor, President of the National Coal Association, testified today before a senate committee investigating the coal situation.

The plan is for the government to buy the mines and turn them over to the men for operation, Mr. Taylor said. Already many of the miners are demanding a six-hour day and a five-day week, he added.

RAILROAD TRAFFIC IS TIED UP

LOS ANGELES, CAL., August 26.—All striking railroad men here will ignore instructions of their national union that they return to work and will continue their strike, according to a decision reached early today after an all night meeting.

The men based their action on a phrase of the orders to return to work which said they need not submit themselves to danger of mob violence. They said to return at present would be dangerous in that respect.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Aug. 26.—Rail transportation through southern California is at a standstill as the result of a strike by the Southern Railway Company, operating on an interurban system, and which rapidly extended to include other railroads, yardmen and shopmen.

At the former place, 100 switchmen of the Southern Pacific and Atchafalaya, and Santa Fe walked out, tying up train service both to the north and the south. At Yuma 25 Southern Pacific switchmen quit and trainmen refused to take out trains for the east which had been made up by officials.

Switchmen and trainmen who met here last night took no official action it was said, on orders from Warren S. Stone, International grand master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and W. G. Lee of the railway trainmen, to "perform their usual duties and carry out their contracts."

BAKERS ENTER PLEAS OF NOT CULTY

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 26.—Not guilty pleas were entered by Amel G. Beck, general manager of the Columbus Baking Company; George Bollinger, general manager of the Breckenridge Baking Company; Hector Urquhart, of Springfield, president of the Reynolds Baking Company; and Norman Davidson, general manager of the Occident Baking Company, when arraigned before Judge E. B. Kilduff in the Franklin county criminal court today, under indictments charging them with having conspired for the purpose of profiting in bread.

Prosecutor Schlessinger announced that he had set September 8 as the time for the trial of the men. Counsel for the accused men, however, announced they would seek more time in order to prepare their defense.

Col. Weybrecht Dies, Victim Of Storage Turkey

ALLIANCE, O., August 26.—Colonel Charles C. Weybrecht, who returned only three weeks ago from France, where he commanded the 110th Infantry, died here this morning as a result, physicians believe, of eating cold storage turkey at a dinner last Saturday night at the Lakeside Country Club, at Canton.

Mrs. Helen Sebring Galis, 33, wife of William I. Galis, of Soling, Ohio, also is dead and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Sharer, are paralyzed and their recovery is said to be extremely doubtful. Specialists from Cleveland and Alliance were summoned here yesterday to attend the stricken persons.

Colonel Weybrecht served two terms as adjutant general of Ohio, under Governor Harmon. He was 50 years old.

Mrs. Clem Bates and Mrs. Willis F. Sanford, both of Alliance, also are seriously ill.

TWO MORE ILL.
SALEEN, O., August 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Brush, who attended the dinner party at Lakeside Country Club in Canton Saturday night, where members of an Alliance dinner party were poisoned, are very ill today of the same poison. Mr. Brush is publisher of the Salem News and the East Liverpool Review.

WAITER DIES
CANTON, O., August 26.—Bob Jennings, waiter at the Lakeside Country Club, died from food poisoning. The chef, W. D. McElroy, is now in a serious condition at a local hospital and his recovery is doubtful. Another waiter, Chasley Oley, in charge of the grill, became ill Monday, but was much improved this morning and is expected to recover.

SAV ACTIVE SERVICE
COLUMBUS, O., August 26.—Colonel Charles C. Weybrecht was lieutenant colonel of the eighth Ohio infantry when it was in Mexican border service. Upon the reorganization of the Ohio National Guard, for service overseas, he was placed in command of the 110th Infantry, 35th division, serving as its commander until last August when he was assigned to command of the American base at Nantes, France.

When the organization of an American base for the army of occupation in Germany was taken up by General Pershing, Colonel Weybrecht was assigned to Holland, where he remained until early this month.

Colonel Weybrecht served as a major of the eighth Ohio volunteer infantry during the Spanish-American war. He entered the Ohio National Guard as a private in 1902.

GOVERNMENT WILL OPERATE RETAIL STORES

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 26.—Retail stores for the sale of household commodities included in the surplus stocks of the war department will be established September 25. It was announced today. The stores will be located in depot centers and other large cities and they will accept and fill mail orders.

Continued purchase by the department of certain necessities so that these stores may be continued indefinitely as a part of the government campaign against the high cost of living is understood to be under consideration.

NEW ZEPPELIN IS COMPLETED

BERLIN, August 26.—The Germans have completed a new zeppelin which covers 160 kilometers in six hours. The new machine will accommodate 30 passengers and is equipped with all modern conveniences, including hot and cold water.

SUIT FILED TO DISSOLVE MILK FIRM

CLEVELAND, O., August 26.—Charges that the Ohio Farmers' Co-operative Milk Company limits the production of milk, prevents competition in its sale and dictates the prices consumers shall pay were made by County Prosecutor Dorester in a suit filed in common pleas court here today to dissolve the company.

Immediately after the suit was filed a temporary injunction restraining the firm from dictating to whom milk shall be sold and the prices that shall be charged was asked for by the prosecutor and granted by Judge Gull.

The suit to break up the alleged milk combine follows the indictment of seven officials of the company by the special Cuyahoga county grand jury investigating food conditions.

In addition to charging that the company limits production and dictates prices, the suit charges:

"That it creates restrictions in the sale of milk and cream."

"That its members have entered into an agreement not to sell below a standard figure."

WANTS TO BUY GERMAN DYES
WASHINGTON, D. C., August 26.—Francis P. Garvan, alien property custodian, today asked President Wilson to issue an executive order permitting him to send an agent to Paris to purchase from the reparations committee a six months' supply of German vat dyes to the over American manufacturers until German secret formulas for dye-stuffs now owned by the alien property custodian, can be utilized for commercial purposes.

Mr. Garvan said the formulas now controlled by him were in the process of manufacture, but that it would be six months before the dye-stuffs would be ready for commercial use. The American supply of vat dyes is almost exhausted, he said.

COMPLETES FIRST HALF
MINNEOLA, N. Y., August 26.—Colonel William C. Barker, the Canadian ace, arrived here from Albany at 9:20 o'clock this morning, completing the first half of the air race from Toronto to New York and return. His machine, a captured German Fokker model, carried a bag of Canadian mail, which was immediately transferred to another airplane and started for Washington.

Five airplanes which were unable to start from the local field yesterday, got away just before Colonel Barker arrived. Philip Melville, piloting a Curtiss plane, took off at 8:59 o'clock and was followed by Lieutenant Joseph H. Hays, and Lieutenant Ross Kirkpatrick, all piloting De Havilland four machines.

Order Strike Vote Be Taken Immediately

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The committee of 100 representing the railroad shopmen informed Director General Hines today that they could not accept as a basis of settlement of their demands the rates submitted to them yesterday by President Wilson.

Results of the negotiations here were communicated to the union locals throughout the country with instructions that a strike vote should be taken immediately to determine whether the president's proposals should be accepted.

Kindling the issuance of an official strike vote, it was urgently requested by the international officers that all men should remain on the job.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Postponement of the settlement of wage demands until normal economic conditions were restored was announced today by President Wilson as the policy which the administration will pursue in dealing with such questions, particularly those affecting railroad workers.

The President announced also that it was neither wise nor feasible at this time, when the most important question in the country is a return to a normal price level, to attempt to increase freight rates to provide funds for the increased wages.

"We ought to postpone questions of this sort until we have the opportunity for rational calculations as to the returns between wages and the cost of living," the President declared in a statement to the public, explaining his decision as to wages.

"It is the duty of every citizen to insist upon a true and intelligent settlement of such matters," he said, "and to make it a matter of common sense. I appeal to my fellow-citizens of every employment to co-operate in insisting upon and maintaining such a true settlement."

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 26.—The president's statement rejecting the shopmen's appeal for higher pay addressed to the public, follows:

"My Fellow-Citizens:—A situation has arisen in connection with the administration of the railroads which I think it my duty to make a public statement concerning it. In order that the whole country may know what is involved."

"The railroad shopmen have demanded a large increase in wages. They are now receiving 25, 30, and 35 cents per hour. They demand 85 cents per hour. This demand has been given careful and serious consideration by the board which was constituted by the railroad administration to adjust questions of wages, a board consisting of an equal number of representatives of employees and of the operating managers of the railroad companies. This board has been unable to come to an agreement, and it has therefore devolved upon the director-general of railroads and myself to act upon the merits of the case."

"The shopmen urge that they are entitled to higher wages because of the higher wages for the present work in ship yards, army and arsenal, as well as in a number of private industries. But I cannot with the director-general in thinking that there is no real basis of comparison between the settled employment afforded mechanics by the railroads under living conditions as various as the location and surroundings of the railway shops themselves and the fluctuating employment afforded in industries exceptionally and temporarily stimulated by the war and located almost without exception in industrial centers where the cost of living is highest."

"The substantial argument which the shopmen urge is the very serious increase in the cost of living. This is a very potent argument indeed. But the fact is that the cost of living has certainly reached its peak, and probably will be lowered by the efforts which are now everywhere being concerted and carried out. It will certainly be lowered so soon as there are settled conditions and production and of commerce; that is, so soon as the treaty of peace is ratified and in operation, the merchants, manufacturers, farmers and miners all have a certain basis of calculation as to what their business will be and what the conditions will be under which it must be conducted. The demands of the shopmen therefore, and all similar demands are in effect this: That we make increase in the wages, which are likely to be permanent, in order to meet a temporary situation only for a limited time. Increases in wages will, moreover, certainly result in still further increasing the costs of production and therefore the cost of living, and should only have to go through the same process again. Any substantial increase of wages in leading lines of industry at this time would utterly crush the general campaign which the government is waging, with energy, vigor and substantial hope of success, to reduce the high cost of living. And the increases in the cost of transportation which would necessarily result from increases in the wages of railway employees, would more certainly and more immediately have that effect than any other enhanced wage cost. Only by keeping the cost of production on its present level, by increasing production, and by right economy and saving on the part of the people can we hope for large decreases. In the burdensome cost of living which now weighs us down."

"The director-general of railroads, and I have felt that a peculiar responsibility rests upon us, because in determining this question we are not studying the balance sheets of corporations merely, we are in effect determining the burden of taxation, which must fall upon the people of the country in general. We are acting, not for private corporations, but in the name of the government and the public, and must assess our responsibility accordingly. For it is neither wise nor feasible to take care of increases in the wages of railroad employees at this time by increases in freight rates. It is impossible at this time, until peace has come and normal conditions are restored, to estimate what the earning capacity of the railroads will be when ordinary conditions return. There is no certain basis, therefore, for calculating what the increases of freight rates should be and it is necessary, for the time being at any rate, to take care of all increases in the wages of railway employees through appropriations from the public treasury."

In such circumstances it seems clear to me and I hope will seem clear to every thoughtful American, including the shopmen themselves, when they have taken second thought, and when they have considered the fact that we ought to postpone questions of this sort until normal conditions come again and we have the opportunity for certain calculation as to the relations between wages and the cost of living. It is the duty of every citizen of the country to insist upon a true and intelligent settlement of such matters, and to make it a matter of common sense. I appeal to my fellow-citizens of every employment to co-operate in insisting upon and maintaining such a true, and to co-operate also in maintaining the government in what I conceive to be the only course which conscientious public servants can pursue. Demands are—

Soviets Stirring Race Hatred In United States

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 26.—Russian race interests apparently are supplying funds for a propaganda to stir up race antagonism in the United States, according to information in the hands of the department of justice.

Officials of the department said today that charges of an organized propaganda made in the house yesterday by Representative Byrnes, Democrat, South Carolina, seemed to be well founded. Newspapers, they said, were springing up over the country to spread the propaganda and sow discord among the negroes.

Agents of the department of justice are investigating. Facts thus far developed lead officials to believe that I. W. W. and soviet influence were at the bottom of the recent race riots in Washington and Chicago.

Captain Johnson Making Trachoma Survey

Captain J. C. Johnston, a physician representing the United States Health Service, who is here making the preliminary survey which will precede the establishing of the Trachoma Hospital here this fall, is making excellent headway in his survey. He has specialized in this work for six years and can readily tell a case of trachoma on sight. He made a complete survey of the Excelsior Shoe

Company plant Monday and discovered but 1 percent of trachoma existed there, which was a splendid record.
Capt. Johnston said that the factory and the personnel of the workers was above the ordinary and highly complemented the factory.

Today he will go through the Irving
Drew and the Solby plants.
Wednesday he will make a survey of the Whitaker-Glessner plant and the Solby Coke company's plant.

BURNS FATAL TO AGED WOMAN

Mrs. F. L. Hanes, age 77 years who was seriously burned at 9 o'clock Monday morning, at her home in Pink-erman, two miles from South Webster, died from the results of her terrible burns at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Hanes was doing the family washing and it is thought that while she was replenishing the fire with wood, her clothing was reached by the flames. She rushed screaming for help, from the kitchen. Her son, John Hanes was working in a nearby field and ran to her aid. By this time her clothes were a mass of flames, and all of them were burned from her body, only her shoes remaining. The son carried the unconscious woman into the house and hastily summoned Dr. A. G. Stevens of South Webster.

From the first her recovery was very doubtful and as her suffering was intense, death came as a relief.
Mrs. Hanes was born October 20, 1841 in Weaver County, Ia. She was one of the pioneer settlers of this community, coming to Scioto county when a small child. Since early girlhood she has been a member of the United Brethren church, and throughout a long and useful life she remained a steadfast Christian.

The deceased in addition to her husband Samuel L. Hanes, is survived by one sister, Mrs. Mary Anne Hanes, who makes her home with her son, Dr.
John Hanes, at Haverhill, three daughters, Mrs. L. H. Cabot, of Harrison-ville, Mrs. Nellie Hanes and Mrs.

Eliza Reinhardt of this city and two sons William and John of Pinkerman.
Mrs. Hanes had a wide circle of friends who will be grieved to hear of her tragic death, a death so unfitting to a tranquil life of loving service and devotion. Helpful, kind and cheerful, her place in the community will be hard to fill with another personality so charmingly friendly and interesting.

For ten years she was a resident of this city, having gone to Pinkerman five years ago to make her home with her son, John.

July 20, 1917	Spring Ave.	Kelley Bros.	July 20, 1919
Dec. 12, 1917	21st Street	The S. Monroe & Sons Co.	Dec. 12, 1919

It will be noted from the above statement that in the Armstrong Place and Malbert Road improvements the two year retention period has expired. If no defects develop in the construction the retainers should be paid at the end of the retention period. As per the statement of the director of service there have been no defects necessitating the withholding of any portion of any of the retainers when due.

The audit disclosed the payment of the following claims from the Galla Street Improvement fund:

Date of Payment	To Whom	For What	Amount
Mar. 24, 1917	J. F. and P. J. Wilhelm	Purchase of land for St. purposes	$400.00
Mar. 31, 1917	John W. Hall	Clerk of Courts, Costs in damage cases	110.00
Apr. 25, 1917	Rufus Wilson	Judgment for damages	1,275.00

In the improvement of Galla Street from Young Street to the east corporation line, it became necessary to appropriate certain property belonging to J. F. and P. J. Wilhelm, the council through ordinance No. 2391, directing that said parties be reimbursed in the amount of $400.00.

In making said improvement it becomes necessary to cut into the hill on the north side of said street. While a retaining wall was constructed, yet, notwithstanding, a portion of the hill "slipped" causing alleged damages to certain properties. Claims were filed in the courts for damages, resulting in a judgment against the city in favor of Rufus Wilson in the amount of $1,275.00, and in favor of George H. Lennor, et al. in the amount of $925.00, which was paid September 26, 1918, and costs in the latter case in the amount of $110.39, which was paid March 31, 1917.

A comparison of the bills on the various improvements on which contracts were awarded and executed, disclosed that the contracts were awarded in each case to the lowest bidder.

An examination of said bids indicated that the provisions of Section 4529, General Code, were observed, the price bid for labor and material being separately stated.

It was noted that there were some apparent erasures in certain of the proposals. While we are of the opinion that the erasures and changes were made before the bids were opened, yet, it is clearly irregular to submit proposals in which erasures occur, and in most instances bids of such a nature should be rejected.

There should be no change permitted in a bid after it has been opened—no permit would work an injustice to other bidders.

In harmony with the provisions of Section 4278, General Code, the city auditor was present at the opening of bids by the director of service.

Proper advertising was had for bids, such advertisement being inserted in the Portsmouth Times for two consecutive weeks. The proofs of publication on file with the auditor disclosed that the charges for said service were correct.

In providing the means to pay the cost of street paving work, bonds are issued on the basis of the engineer's preliminary estimate for the city's portion of the cost, and, for the property holder's portion of the cost, short time notes are from time to time issued, as the money may be needed to pay the estimates, and the said notes being subsequently refunded through the issuance of bonds under the provisions of Section 3914, General Code. In most instances the notes bear interest at the rate of five per cent. per annum.

At the time of the audit there were but two notes outstanding, as follows:

Date Issued	Number	Improvement	Holder	Amount	Rate	Maturity
July 26, 1918	204	21st St.	First National Bank	$5,000.00	5 per cent.	1-26-19
July 26, 1918	205	Grandview Ave.	Central Natl. Bank	2,000.00	5 per cent.	1-26-19

It will be noted from the foregoing financial statement of the special improvement funds that a number of the same were permitted to be overdrawn. Under the provisions of Section 4285, General Code, the overdrawal of any fund is prohibited, this applying with equal force to special funds as to general funds. The director of service should approve no claim that would cause the overdrawal of a special fund. In order that this may be done it is essential that the director know the condition of such funds, and such condition may be known to him only by keeping a summary record of the special funds. Such a record has not been kept in the service department but it should be immediately installed and properly kept.

The money for the city's portion of the cost of special improvements is provided for by bond issue, and this is credited before the payments are begun. Hence the overdraws are due to the failure to issue notes promptly and in sufficient amount to cover the property holder's portion of the cost. The claims may be properly met and the overdrafts prevented if notes are issued at such time as the funds are needed. The director of service should insure that this be done.

When an improvement is completed and all claims against the fund are satisfied the director should so certify to the auditor in order that said official may promptly transfer to the sinking fund trustees any balance that may remain thereon.

At the time of the audit there were several improvements completed in which the balances had not been transferred. These balances should be immediately transferred to the sinking fund trustees and the accounts closed.

The specifications as prepared by the engineer are comprehensive and complete as to detail. If the provisions of the specifications, which are made a part of the contract, are fully observed by the contractors there can be no question but that the improvement will be of such a character as to be eminently satisfactory.

There should be no failure to strictly enforce a compliance with the terms of the contract, this being essential if the interests of the city and the property owners are to be properly conserved.

SEWER CONSTRUCTION.

As previously stated, all sewer construction, both storm water and sanitary, is paid from the proceeds of general bonds, no assessment being made against the abutting, adjacent or benefited property for a portion of the cost. However, through ordinance of council, all parties connecting with sanitary sewers are required to pay certain stipulated permit fees.

No separate account is kept, either by the director of service or the city auditor, with the various sewer constructions, the cost of each being merged in a general account known as "Sewer Construction Fund."

The following is a classification of the receipts and disbursements of the sewer construction fund, as indicated by the records and the vouchers on file:

HANGING ROCK WOMAN SEES OPPORTUNITY FOR SUCCESS

"I think Truonia is the best medicine I've ever taken and I'm sure it will help anyone who is in a weakened and run-down condition," Mrs. Mary Watkins, 60 years old, a well known resident of Hanging Rock, near here, said recently. Mrs. Watkins has lived in this vicinity for the past 60 years and she is well known here. "I was suffering with rheumatism and kidney trouble and my stomach was out of shape," Mrs. Watkins continued. "I had severe pains in my back and for a number of years I've been bothered with pains around my heart. I often have to take some medicine to relieve the pains. "I've just now finished my first bottle of Truonia, and it certainly has helped me a whole lot. For the past few days I haven't been bothered with the pains around my heart and I don't have the pains in my back now. In short, I feel better in every way. I'm going to continue taking Truonia and I'm sure it will eventually completely relieve me of my troubles." Mrs. Watkins is but one of thousands of cases where Truonia has proven beyond the question of a doubt that it is an unsurpassed combination of stomachic, bowel and liver troubles, catarrhal complaints, nervousness and the like as well as a splendorous and body invigorant. Truonia is now being introduced and explained in Portsmouth at Wurster Brothers' drug store.

In Cincinnati, County Surveyor John G. Harper went to Cincinnati today on official business.

"There is, however, one claim made by the railway shippers which ought to be met. They claim that they are not enjoying the same advantages that other railway employees are enjoying because their wages are calculated upon a different basis. The wages of other railway employees are based upon the rule that they are to receive for eight hours' work the same pay they received for the longer work day, that was the usual standard of the pre-war period. This claim, I am told, is well founded; and I concur in the conclusion of the director-general that the shippers ought to be given the additional four cents an hour which the readjustment asked for will justify. There are certain other adjustments, also, pointed out in the report of the director-general, which ought in fairness to be made, and which will be made.

"Let me add, also, that the position which the government must in consequence take against general increases in wage levels while the present exceptions exist will of course not preclude the railroad administration from giving prompt and careful consideration to any claims that may be made by other classes of employees for readjustments believed to be proper to secure impartial treatment for all who work in the railway service.

It's Easy To Peel Off Your Tan Or Freckles

This is what you should do to shed a tanned complexion. Spread evenly over the face, covering every inch of skin, a thin layer of ordinary mercurized wax. Let this stay on over night, wash it off the next morning. Repeat daily until your complexion is as clear, soft and beautiful as a young girl's. This result is inevitable, no matter how soiled or discolored the complexion. The wax literally peels off the tan from beneath. The process is entirely harmless, so little of the old skin coming off at a time.

Mercurized wax is obtainable at any drug store; or once usually sufficient. It's a veritable wonder-working for rough, tanned, reddened, blotchy, pimply or freckled skin.

NUXATED IRON A DRIVING FORCE

BEHIND KEEN SUCCESSFUL MEN AND WOMEN

When you think of the successful men and women you know—people who are doing things worth while—you will find that they possess force, vim and energy—the kind that simply brims over when the blood is filled with iron. Nuxated Iron by enriching the blood and creating new red blood cells, strengthens the nerves, rebuilds the weakened tissues and helps to instill renewed force and energy into the whole system. Three million people use it annually as a tonic, strength and blood-builder.

MAKE THIS TEST

See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired; next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Numbers of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while have most astonishingly increased their strength and endurance simply by taking iron in the proper form.

SHOPMEN EXPRESS DISSATISFACTION

Heads of the Federated Crafts of the N. & W. here refused to issue any formal statement on President Wilson's proposed increase, but they, in a doubtful way expressed their dissatisfaction over the amount of the increase, which, they claim, would not enable them to meet the demands of the high cost of living.

Shopmen all along the N. & W. system are thoroughly digesting the suggestions made by the president. They firmly anticipated favorable action on their demands.

The officials of the various crafts refused to discuss the matter for publication. "We will take up the President's offer at our next meeting and then we may have something to give to the public," a prominent shopman said Tuesday.

PASTOR GETS YEAR'S LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Rev. O. L. Burroughs, pastor of the First United Brethren church, is leaving the city today for a year's vacation on his farm in Highland county, Ohio.

He came to Portsmouth from a seven years' pastorate at Logan, O., where a new modern church building was erected and over seven hundred members added to the church. His objective in coming here, the specific reason, which the conference had in sending him here, was the building of a new church. As to the success or failure of this project, the church and city know quite well.

In this city, he has many good friends and the splendid church edifice is a strong tie. Yet, he feels, that the task assigned here has been finished. This is the fifth church building for him, and, while the official board is willing to vote for his return, he has many good friends

What Portsmouth Does

The Cincinnati Register Monday printed the following complimentary story about the Bureau of Community Service:

"No matter what you want to know in Portsmouth, Ohio, or to do, in the way of community betterment, all that is necessary is to call the office of the community service.

Three years ago Portsmouth had a social survey made, and the organization of the Bureau of Community Service was the result. All of the various agencies in the city which were working for social betterment were organized under one head.

If there is a case of adenoids which needs attention, and you think something should be done, you call the Bureau of Community Service. If there is serious illness in a family, and no one to attend them, you call the Bureau of Community Service. If a new playground is wanted, call the community service. There it is, and you know you will not be obliged to waste your time calling dozens of people in order to get your plan across, if you have one. And if you haven't a plan, you know there is one to be had by calling the Bureau of Community Service.

There are two joint directors and ten paid assistants in charge of the bureau, and in summer time there are seven more playground workers. Then, of course, there are committees which include all the people who are vitally interested in the plans.

Once a week there is a meeting of the entire executive committee. In this way they are able to cooperate with all of the agencies in the city and county which are working along allied lines.

"The Portsmouth City Council appropriated one thousand dollars for playground equipment, and another thousand for a veterans' clinic. All of the elements in the city are combined in working out the community service plan. In many cities, when one worker goes into a home, she is obliged to take unto herself only one function. But a Portsmouth worker may take the responsibility for everything, if she comes from the community service.

"Even the women who act as probation officers are paid by the community bureau. So that if it is a wayward boy or girl that you are troubled about, if you live in Portsmouth, all you have to do is to call the community service. When the mayor, and the Probate Judge, and the business men, and the labor organizations, and every one else get together on a question like this, it is a pretty good indication that the plan is all right. The postmaster says that since the organization of the service the untalented workers are cut out, and the community is no longer benighted by duplication of activities.

"The Ohio Institute for Public Efficiency says that Portsmouth has a budget of $25,000, voluntarily taxing itself nearly a dollar per capita, for the service. It has a fresh air camp, seven playgrounds, a trachoma clinic, two visiting nurses. Special diet is given to tuberculous patients in their own homes, and recreational activities are conducted.

In fact, there is hardly anything you can think of that would be good for the town that they have not already started.

What Portsmouth has done, any town or city may do.

Summer Sports Sore Muscles, Sprains, Injuries

All outdoors calls to us these fine summer days. Swimming, tennis, baseball—all bring into play muscles that, unaccustomed to so active use, grow sore and stiff.

There is no need for this annoyance. After taking brisk exercise of any sort, need a light application of House-100-each into the muscles with the thumb and forefinger. No after discomfort will then be suffered. Its effects are like the application of good lubricating oil to a hot, dry motor. Besides, it is anti-septic and as E. T. Cook, Jr., famous Cornell athlete, says: "I would recommend it above all others for keeping the muscles in best condition; for pulled tendons, sprains and poisoned cuts from spiked shoes." Nearly fifty years' test proves it to be the best emergency remedy. Unlike other liniments, House-100 (The Original Jones' Liniment) does not smart, burn or blister the most sensitive skin. Its healing power is marvelous. Don't wait for the injury to occur. Buy House-100-each to your druggist. 25c, 50c and $1.00 sizes. Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—I am about twenty three years old. I love a girl who is eighteen. I don't live in the same town that she does. She had told me that she loved me, but she seems to doubt herself. When I am away she writes me that she loves me, but says that she won't ever kiss me again. But when I get with her, and talk to her a while, she always relents and does what she said she wouldn't. Recently I went for an auto ride with her. When we got back home she told me she loved me, but didn't believe in letting me kiss her because she was too young and besides she said that something might turn up afterward that would make her sorry she had kissed me. When I told her goodbye that night she kissed me, regardless of what she had said and told me to please come to see her again soon.

In two days after I left her I got a letter from her that she was sorry, but the last night had showed her that she did not really love me as she should. She said that she had found out that this was the reason for her former feeling of hesitation about kissing me.

Now, regardless of what she said, I can't help but believe that she does love me. Please give me your advice on this subject.

Puzzled.
The girl has more judgment than she has will power. She realizes that she is too young to kiss you, but her desire to be loved overcomes her idea of what is right.

She would not be in doubt about her love for you if it were deep. Doubtless she enjoys you as a friend, but cannot think of you as more. Because of this she should be consistent and not permit you to kiss her.

If you love the girl and want her to lose you, help her to do what is right. Do not try to kiss her.

I think, however, that both of you should refrain unless you care so much for each other that you intend to marry.

(1) You could take the linen shirt and toilet dress, too, if you go soon. Have you a separate coat for evening wear?

(2) The velvet hat is all right now for traveling.

(3) If you do not get up until after the breakfast hour you can go out for your breakfast to a restaurant. You order what you care for from a menu card which is placed on the table for you.

My advice would be to be as inconspicuous as you possibly can while away from the people who know you.

Dear Miss Wise—I see in your column where someone asked how to get better together when eloping. I find this a good way: When butter won't gather, I dissolve 12 teaspoon of baking soda in a cup of water and pour this in the milk. You will find this will gather the butter quickly.

A HAPPY HOLLOW READER.

Dear Miss Wise—I am a young man nineteen years of age. I have been going with one girl regularly for over two years. I love her a great deal and I think she loves me.

Last winter I went off to school and started going with a girl there just to have a good time. I was corresponding with this other girl and when I came home, of course I went with her.

I have been writing to the girl I met at school and I believe she thinks I really love her from the way she writes. I do not want to quit her suddenly for I like her very much. My sister says I should not feel her but I do not look at it that way. I like to go with a lot of girls but not in a flitting way. Do you think I should drop her entirely? If so, gradually or at once?

J. D.
If you have been only a friend to the girl and do nothing to indicate a closer relationship there is no reason why you should give her up. Of course you have no right to make her to her or do anything that would suggest serious intentions.

Dear Miss Wise—I am a girl eighteen years old and have been going with a young man for some time. I love him dearly. I saw him at the show with two girls. Would I be doing right to let him go with other girls and to go with other fellows myself? Please give me a little advice.

Worried.
It is not wise for young people of your age to go with one person only. It will be best if your boy friend goes with other girls and you go with other boys.

Dear Miss Wise—A little friend and I had a little argument. When a couple goes to get married, which side does the man stand on and do they wear the wedding ring then or after they get married?

The groom stands on the bride's right. The groom or best man has the ring until the ceremony calls for it.

Dear Miss Wise—As you have helped so many others, I am coming to you for advice. I am a girl 19, and am very lonely. I never get acquainted with any fellows and none seem to care for me. I try to dress neat and make my self look as attractive as possible on my weekly wage. I have a very nice girl friend, whom I chum with most of the time. I try to content myself with her friendship, but I can't. A fellow I cared a great deal about called to see me a time or two, but he quit calling without any cause, which I know of. I think of this fellow all the time. I though I know it is crazy of me, when he goes with other girls. Now, Doll, I know you will think I am silly. What would you advise me to do?

Lonely.
First and foremost, I advise you to "give to the world the best that you have and the best will come back to you". Give friendship and you will get friendship. You don't appreciate what you have and that's the impression you probably create others. You don't grasp life's true values. Don't think so much of yourself and more of other people. It will repay you, believe me.

Meet me at Nye's Fountain. 12-11

A Million Babies—and One Pair of Pink Cheeks

WHEN my doctor told me to give my baby Nestlé's Food because I couldn't nurse him, I said, "Have many babies been brought up on it?"

He smiled. "Right here in the United States," he said, "at this minute there are many thousands of babies keeping well and strong on Nestlé's. All over the world it's the same way—and that will give you some idea of how many babies have kept well on Nestlé's Food during the past fifty years."

And yet it wasn't all those millions of babies that convinced me. It was the pink cheeks of my own baby.

Nestlé's Milk Food is made out of pure milk, to which has been added just the right amount of cereal and of pure sugar. This is made into a white fluffy powder, which makes the curds of the milk easy to digest. You just add cold water, boil, and

Miss Emily Hubeny Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples

"Being forced to perform outdoor work I was troubled with heat pimples over my hands, face and neck. The pimples were very hard and red and were a source of severe itching and loss of sleep. Scratching burst the pimples and a coating of scales came over the inflamed places that caused great discomfort."

"This trouble lasted two months and then I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I found that they relieved me and I used four cakes of Soap with three boxes of Ointment when I was healed." (Signed) Miss Emily Hubeny, Rolling Stone, Minn.

Mrs. CHARLIE CHAPLIN (MILDRED HARRIS) in "HOME" A LOIS WEBER PRODUCTION. UNIVERSAL-JEWEL

See Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Chaplin on the Same Program at the Columbia Tomorrow and Thursday

A story full of heart throbs about a small town girl whose mind is filled with visions of marrying a rich man is told in "Home," the latest Jewel Production of the Universal, featuring Mrs. Charlie Chaplin (Mildred Harris) which will be shown at the Columbia Theatre tomorrow and Thursday.

Pre-release testimonials declare "Home" to be the most human and intensely interesting picture in which this charming star has appeared as a leading character. It was written and directed by Lois Weber, the fairy god-sister of Mildred Harris, who first saw the possibilities of the girl's beauty and made her a star over night in the production of "The Price of a Good

Time," a Universal production on which Miss Weber was working.

"Home" is a story of a disillusionment, a recounting of the adventures of a foolish young girl whose head has been turned by her wealthy associates at a fashionable boarding school, who becomes enamored of her sterling parents and her humble home and seeks solace in the holiness of high society.

Learning of its emptiness she turns from it sick at heart and is brought to her senses by a message from her boyish lover telling of the serious illness of her mother. Then she rushes madly to the depot to take the first train back to home and friends.

Isn't this just like a woman?

LITTLE WOMEN

A Paramount Artcraft Special

Humor, Pathos and Sentiment Abound in "Little Women" at The Temple Tomorrow

Filled with humor, pathos and delicate sentiment, "Little Women," the famous novel of Louisa M. Alcott, which has been dramatized and released as a Paramount Artcraft special picture, will be shown at the Temple Theatre tomorrow. This will be an event in which every woman and child in the city, and many men, for that matter, who have read this immortal story, will be intensely interested.

This splendid photo play is of unusual historic interest inasmuch as the scenes were filmed in and about the home of Miss Alcott in Concord, Mass., where she wrote "Little Women." Every attention was paid to the details of production by Harley Knoles, the director, and Rene Guisart, the photographer. The four little women are portrayed by Isabel Lamson, Dorothy Bernard, Lillian Hall and Florence Blinn. Kate Lester, Julia Hurley, George Kelson, Conrad Nelson, Henry Hull and Lynn Hammond also are in the cast.

New Vitaphone Serial Packed With Thrills

"The continuous thrill" about describes the fourteenth episode of "The Man of Mystery," Vitaphone's latest adventure serial, which will be seen in the Theatre tonight. It opens with a thrilling drive by Thomas Lee, a boy in a car, from a cliff to the sea to rescue the treasure hunters' boat to their traps in the sand in the path of the approaching tide.

Then there is the battle at the stockade with the outlaws, the Mexican capturing himself from the top of a cactus, a tangled tree and landing in the stocks on a roughly constructed gallows. And the entrance into the city of the Aztecs in war-paint and war-dances.

William Jones directed the serial, which is a good guarantee of correct action, and also has the featured role. He is supported by an all-star cast including such famous names as

There's no sense in being a grouch. Pessimism never got anybody anywhere except into a state of mental rot. Life isn't such a rotten game if you smile now and then, and it's a lot less rotten if you make other people smile.

"Better Times" isn't a preachment against pessimism nor a sermon on happiness, but it illustrates, in a clever and entertaining fashion, some very human truths.

You'll feel better after seeing "Better Times." Your food will digest with less opposition, and the birds will sing more sweetly. If you've got a friend with a grouch bring him to see "Better Times."

You'd better take care of this for me! DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS in "Arizona" An ARCTICRAFT Picture

Douglas Fairbanks Has Another Big Success in "Arizona," His New Photoplay of the Southwest.

Douglas Fairbanks, the ever popular success in his latest photoplay, "Arizona," a screen version of Augustus Thomas' famous play, which will be presented at the Lyric Theatre for the second time in this city tonight. Of course, there was never any doubt but that this play was an ideal vehicle for the screen, but with Douglas Fairbanks, in the leading role of Lieut. Dent, there are no adjectives that fittingly describe the charm of the picture, its thrill, its tremendous suspense, heart interest and dramatic qualities.

The story is familiar to most playgoers, and it will be unnecessary to repeat it here, and, indeed, much of the pleasure to those who do not know the plot will be in their inability to guess the outcome of the twisted story. Suffice to say it deals with affairs at the period of the Spanish war, and the love affairs of the officers present a tangled skein which is only unraveled at the end. The unjust suspicions attaching to Denton, the treachery and villainy of Hodge, the ingenueness of Benita and the characteristic fierceness of the Colonel and of Canby are all phases of delightfully enacted character parts. The story has the martial atmosphere that is certain to be so popular today, yet is of a bygone period before the khaki distinguished the American soldiers. It was then, still, the "boys in blue."

Never has a better cast been chosen for a picture. Too much can be said for the work of all concerned. Of course Douglas Fairbanks is splendid in the leading role. His boyish breeziness and his determination are alike infectious. Theodore Roberts is a wonderful Canby and Frederick Burton is fine as the Colonel. Frank Keller, and three women are wonderfully interpreted by Marjorie Daw as Benita; Kathleen Kirkham as Estrella and Marguerite de la Motte as Lieut.

This picture will repay anyone's time in witnessing it as it offers clear, clearly defined, artistic and purely American drama by a master dramatist. It is a departure for Douglas Fairbanks, but it is another evidence of his versatility.

Norma Talmadge in "The Way of a Woman" at the Columbia Tonight and Only

The ways of a woman are strange—indeed, and the ways and means that they take to accomplish certain ends are sometimes past the understanding of mere man. Nancy Lee was a real daughter of the South, sweet, youthful possessed of unusual beauty, and what is more to the point, with an unusual amount of brains. To help her people, who are very poor, she gives up the man she loves and marries a wealthy New Yorker, only to find that the latter is hopelessly in debt. After many hardships, she gains at last the happiness which she sacrificed for love of her mother and marries the real man in the case. Norma Talmadge is the heroine and she will win your sympathy right from the start.

George Walsh At Strand Tonight In "Never Say Quit"

Americans ought not consider Friday a day of bad luck. It was on a Friday that Columbus discovered America. George Washington was born on a Friday and the Pilgrim Fathers landed on that day of evil repute. But Reinhold Jones never could be convinced of the harmfulness of Friday.

"Never Say Quit," George Walsh's comedy which is at the Strand tonight, is an adventuresome narrative of the mishaps and misadventures which befall Reinhold from the day of his birth to the day his wife presents him with triplets. Don't miss this comedy tonight. Also Matt and Jeff and Elmer Fields.

Reds Made More Runs Than Hits; Beat The Phils, 7 To 3

Roush Double With The Bases Clogged

PHILADELPHIA, August 26.—Cincinnati needed only six hits to beat Philadelphia 7 to 3 Monday. In the seventh inning the visitors sent eight men to bat before making a hit. Their only hit in this inning was Roush's double, but three bases on balls, errors by Pearce and Traggesser, and a wild pitch helped produce five runs.

The locals made nine hits and drew seven bases on balls. With the bases filled in the seventh and two runs in Roush replaced Reuther and retired the side without further scoring.

De Bray Is Knocked Out

Before several thousand fans Dick O'Brien knocked out George De Bray before the Elmwood club in Cincinnati last night. De Bray, a highly touted prospect from Chicago, was no match for O'Brien, who is a real comer.

Team Wins 14; Loses 3

The Reds wind up their last Eastern tour today with the three games in Quakertown. It has been the most successful trip in the history of the club.

The team has won 14 and lost only 3 games on the trip with two more to play. If today's double bill is copied the Reds will come home in wonderful shape. Here is hoping.

EVEN BREAK WOULD SUIT THE FANS

Both the Giants and the Reds are ready for two games today, the Mets being pitted against the Phillies.

An even break all round would be satisfactory to the fans, who realize that the Reds cannot win them all.

RED OUTFIELD IS WEAKEST HITTING CREW AMONG LEADING TEAMS IN OLD LEAGUE

According to recent figures the outfield of the pennant-favorite Cincinnati Reds is the weakest hitting bunch of gardeners representing the three leading clubs in the fight for the N. L. batting. Roush is the only 200 hitter. Neale is batting around .203 and the best

Magee and Bressler can do is to bat over .200, averaging just ten points above that figure. But the holding of the Red gardeners has been superb and Roush's hitting, coupled with the few timely swats of the others has helped them up the team's attack.

"Dead" Defendant's Plea

Judicial skepticism to a marked degree is shown in the opinion in Freeman vs. Frank, 10 A. B. (N. Y.), 370, in which the court makes the following answer:

"The fact that the defendant has answered, though by attorney, shows he is neither civilly or physically dead. It is conclusive that he is alive, and not under any disability that prevents him from defending the action. The defendant, by answering, proves he is alive; and when he answers in his answer that he is dead, he is not to be believed. The answer, therefore, contains two contradictory statements, one of which is a statement of law is a fiction. If the defendant was dead, he could not answer. Hence the statement that he is civilly dead must be deemed untrue."

About Noses

In Persia, anything but an aquiline nose is "bad." Even quite a decent snubnose is well out of it. But in Uganda a lady is chiefly sought on account of her Indian rubber nose. In Japan it must be "up-turned," have a "lascivious" direction, and in Britain any sort of old nose will pass so long as it is not overbearing poking itself into other people's business.—London Tit-Bits.

Night Air in Town

It is a mistake to suppose that night air in towns is unhealthy. In most cases it is purer than air at night and six in the morning than at any other part of the 24 hours.

Sioux City After Willis

IRONTON, August 26.—Joe Willis received a telegram from Cozy John, who is managing the Sioux City team in the Western League and wishes Big Joe to report at once. Sioux City is in first place and has a five game lead and needs a good left-hand pitcher to keep on top. Willis is guaranteed $500 for his share in the post-season series.

Amber

Although today we know that amber is a hard, resinous substance which originated from the exudation of extinct cone-bearing trees in prehistoric forests, the ancients—particularly the Greeks—regarded amber with superstitious reverence because of its mysterious origin and its equally mysterious properties. When set on fire it burns slowly, and when rubbed it becomes warm and attracts light objects to itself much as the lodestone attracts iron. The Greeks explained amber as the tears dropped by Phæton's sisters.

Kauff For McHenry

According to a story sent out from New York Monday a deal is on to trade Outfielder Benny Kauff of the Giants for Outfielder Austin McHenry of St. Louis. Kauff's many friends here would like to see him join the Giants, where he would no doubt become very popular with the Broadway bugs.

Joe Jackson and his lead.

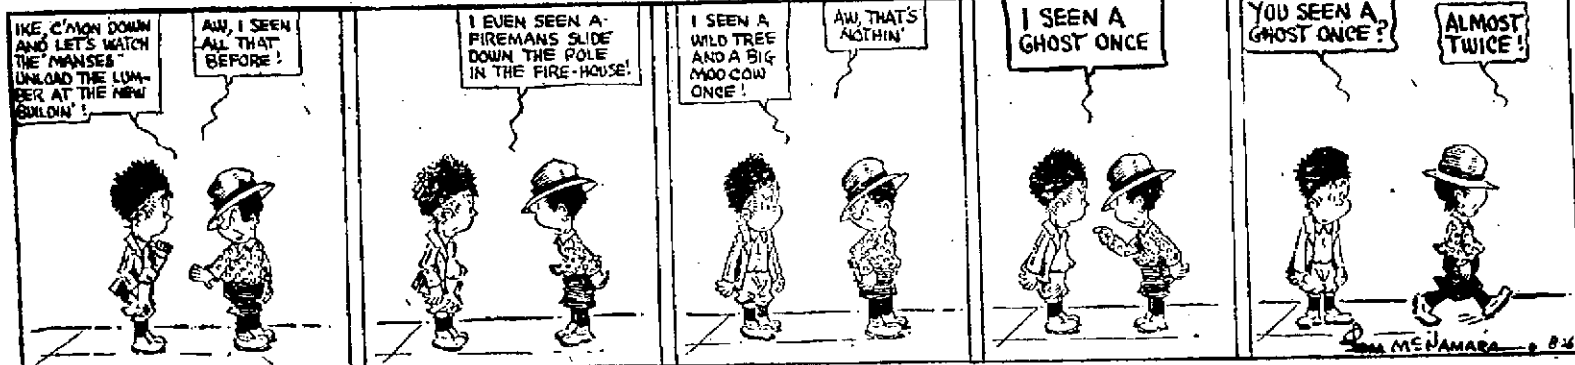

Although the outfield of the Chicago White Sox averages up well in hitting, it has been a disappointment to the Chicago fans. Two years ago three members of it were traveling in the charmed circle. Joe Jackson, Eddie Murphy and Happy Felsch were hitting over .300. John Collins and Nemo Leibold were weak, but rested on the bench most of the time. This season it was hoped that the Sox gardeners would hit their old stride and do the lion's share in wrecking the hopes of the other A. L. clubs. Jackson is hitting harder than ever, but Felsch, Collins and Leibold have failed to strike a back home.

THE CAUSE OF THE EFFECT

If the cause of high prices were seriously sought it might be found and found solely in inflation of the currency. Other conditions might contribute thereto, but the impelling force is an unprecedented increase in the common medium of exchange.

This increase has been phenomenal, being $15.16 now per capita as against $34.63 in 1914, or about thirty-five per cent in the four year period.

It is not strictly accurate, however, to speak of this increase as inflation and demand deflation as a remedy. Inflation, properly speaking, is expanding the volume of money arbitrarily without basis of gold and business. The circulating medium, money, must bear a just and relative proportion to these elements else is their liability to financial disturbance and lack of healthy development.

It will be agreed that in the period since 1914 the wondrous gain in the country's trade of all kinds and the accumulation of a larger gold reserve calls for such expansion as we have had. It is really understandable also that with plentiful money, kept moving by employment and production, prices are bound to ascend.

The question, however, as to what point they will reach is found best answered in demand and consumption and here the people and not the financiers hold the question of regulation. If the people practice prudence and save, if various forms of government hold to economy, the upward tendency will be restrained in reasonable and safe bounds. To the contrary, if the masses profligate and the governments extravagant a sore reckoning is bound to come.

It is evident the people are spending more inconsiderately, with only a small per cent practicing thrift, and every degree of government, city, county, state and nations are squandering unprecedentedly.

That is because all have more money to spend. They refuse to put on the brakes. No forbidding danger appears right now. The crash will come, if it shall come, when earning capacity is over-spent and credit fails.

Increase of currency has moved prices upward, but not to the danger line, which can only be reached through the common extravagance. The country needs its present volume of the medium of exchange. Contraction thereof, arbitrarily, would certainly precipitate a disastrous situation. As it is the masses should have a thought for individual future and lay by against it. Would they do that prices would recede to moderation.

THE RAREST OF JEWELS

SOME people can not be satisfied and they will not be. In one column of a contemporary is seen the usual exhortation of the Wilson administration for not taking American troops out of Siberia; in another is seen a hysterical plea for the retention of armed forces in Armenia.

There is no consistency in this. Conditions in Russia and Armenia, if we can believe reports about them, though as to both considerable allowance should be made, are altogether similar, and if true should command sympathy.

Of the two, however, that sympathy should be most lively and helpful with Russia. We owe her something of appreciation and may be something of gratitude. She has always been especially friendly to America and has done us a good turn or two. Russian people on the whole have many admirable qualities and it is to be noted that foreigners who go to reside among them are kindly treated and soon acquire a warm feeling of friendship for the natives.

To Armenia we owe nothing. We have never had anything from her, but an eternal tale of woe and the constant pleadings of continued mendicants. Such Americans as have dwelt among her natives do not speak appreciatively of her people.

Self interest too would impel us to aid Russia, if either, because a safe and sane government in Russia by Russia means something to the common safety. Germany is casting her covetous eye that way, in the Russia lies her dreams of rehabilitation and the supreme dominion of the world to come. An irresponsible, or an unfriendly government therein will not contribute to the peace and security of these United States.

A circus-come-to-town aint what it used to be. You saw how small were the crowds on the street, Saturday morning, during the parade, the wagons were weather beaten and the clothes of the circus people soiled and worn.

There is jinx abiding in this man's town, else it would not have been written in all except one of the stories of Sunday's automobile accidents, "no one was hurt; machines not badly damaged."

With only twenty-seven games to play and the Giants several notches behind, Mr. Pat Moran is informed that the air of extreme modesty no longer becomes the manager of the raging Reds.

THIS OUGHT TO SETTLE IT

HERE has been much wrangling and high caloric difference as to who started the war. Some otherwise and always heretofore amiable and distinguished gentlemen have become so wrought up over the matter that nothing else than the hanging of some other distinguished, but by no means amiable gentleman will calm them.

It is all settled now and as these furious rows so often turnout it is all a sad mistake all around and nobody is to blame. That is in substance the last official observation and it ought to be conclusive as the authority is none other than Prince Bernhard von Buelow, who was for many years chancellor of Germany, during the period when she was supposedly making her preparations to become master of the world. He solemnly assures the world, that "during the grave weeks before the war began serious psychological mistakes were made by Germany's political leaders, which were unjustly ascribed to the people's responsibility."

So there you have it, old psychology responsible for a devilry that involved more than half the universe.

As much should have been divined long ago, for how much could such kind and humble mortals as Kaiser Wilhelm and Generals von Mackensen and Ludendorff—the latter of whom will begin his long story in The Times of September 1th—plan such colossal crime and abominable ambition as subjugating the world with violent force?

THE WISHING PLANE

How would you children enjoy having some hot summer morning and within an hour or so find light in the middle of winter where you could slide and snow ball to your hearts content?

You'd like it pretty well, I'm sure. That's just what Jack and Jane did.

When they left Willow Air's home in the valley, the sun was shining brightly and the day was a perfect summer one. The men were making hay in the meadows.

And now only a few miles away but higher up on the mountain side, they were where it was just as much winter as it ever was in Meke Belere town at Christmas time.

Lamar had brought his Alpine stock along and he showed the children what seemed to them wonderful feats of climbing up and over boulders and ledges of ice where it looked as though no one, even with a ladder, could climb. On a side of the mountain where there was little danger in a fall he cut some steps in the ice that the children might play at mountain climbing. They had a great time up the slope and then sliding down a smooth plane near by. I think if mother had been there, she would have had something to say about Jack and Jane but they were having such a great time sliding.

When everybody had climbed back into the airplane for the trip back to the valley, Jack said:

"Now, we must watch for the mountain climbers we saw on the trip up there."

"I think we will be able to locate them," said Lamar. "They were headed for the top of Mount Randall, beyond Culper's pass." Captain Brave, under the guide's instructions steered in the direction of the peak. Lamar named as they neared the place Captain Brave brought the plane as near the mountain peaks as he could and still skim over them. Lamar saw Ralph and the man he was leading before they saw them and he saw him in a flash, that they were not climbing or going down.

"They're in trouble and need help," said the guide quietly to Captain Brave. "The ice bridge over which they crossed that great gap in the mountain on their way up has broken in two and fallen down into the bottom of the crevasse. Ralph is hanging vainly for a place to cross the crevasse, but there isn't any place narrow enough to leap, although he is the most daring man in the Alps. We've got to help them, but how can we do it? He turned to Captain Brave.

"If you can help them we can," replied the captain and he elected above the group with the airplane. Now, how did Captain Brave and Lamar rescue the mountain climbers?

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Prohibition has shot hotel rates skyward. The hotel managers announce that they have found no relief in the sale of soft drinks and that the big loss of revenue must be made up in room prices. It is said that three large hotels planned for Manhattan have been given up by the proprietors. In some of the best hotels the rates are going to be doubled.

While some of the big hotels advertise the "rooms $2 a day up" it has for years been commonplace and a reflection upon the intelligence of the hotel industry. As a rule there is one room for $2 and it is always occupied. The patron reads the advertisement and it is said that three large hotels planned for Manhattan have been given up by the proprietors. In some of the best hotels the rates are going to be doubled.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAYS NEWS

MISS ANNE MARTIN

Anne Martin one of the smartest suffragists in the country, is preparing to run for governor in Nevada next year either as a republican or as an independent. She ran last year and was defeated, getting about half as many votes as the republican candidate and spending only $15,000 compared to about $100,000 spent by another candidate. But she is coming back for another whirl.

Being a wise politician, Miss Martin has advised that she either will accept the republican nomination and fight it out with the Democrats, or run as an independent and make it a three cornered race. All of which has given Will something to think about.

If Miss Martin should get into the race, by the way, the historical knowledge of the place would have a great uplift. She used to be head of the history department of the Nevada State University, and she surely can talk about all the old boys like Caesar Sorensen, Napoleon and all the husbands.

Restaurants has burgeoned. Forty fourth street, from Vanderbilt Avenue to the Hudson, is studded with eating places—big and little.

Fourteen restaurants contribute to the atmosphere of a single block on the street between Broadway and Sixth Avenue. Some have regular diners for 10 cents and are apologetic about it. Others have the Little New Orleans for 50 cents and seem proud of it.

The street is a scene of gastronomic democracy. The rich and poor eat together on it. The Claridge is the first food depot. Two of its cafes have bowed to homeless days and closed. Other places on the street are the St. Regis—yellow lighted and pastry windowed and not the replica of the swell St. Regis on the avenue—Joe's No. 3, The Blue Bird Cafe, Hotel General, Mr. Green, Herby, New York, the long Chinese number; Luca and the Algonquin. Delmonico's a famous gem of the collection. Before Louis Sherry gave way to a look his restaurant was a colorful fifty feet of the street.

The harness veil has come to Fifth Avenue. Newman put the seal of approval on the style when Mrs. Arthur Scott Burden and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney wore the facial camouflage. The harness veil does two things which the ordinary veil never has done successfully—protects the complexion and allows the wearer to see what is going on around her.

Young Lochtevar, coming out of the West via Thirty fourth street struck Fifth avenue at the busy noon hour. He was six years old and small for his age—so small that he could squeeze into the small barrel that formed the back of his automobile. Mounted on his side on four wheels and numbered "11" in big black letters, the approved racing style, it was a nobby car. It was propelled by two bare feet underneath. Lochtevar wore green goggles. The corner traffic cop saw him. Held up traffic while he dashed across.

People will eat sauerkraut in New York under the name of liberty cabbage. But trying to call the dachshund the liberty hound failed miserably. It couldn't be done. As a result the dachshund is becoming extinct. They say that Paris is kinder to the dachshund than New York. They have a lot of canine at ones there and they're bound to be seen walking down the boulevard with one. But no one ever thinks of walking on the street with a dachshund here. The dachshund is a fine lovable animal—gentle and intelligent. He had nothing to do with the war. If the Teutons had assimilated some of the dachshund's virtues there would not have been a war.

What Portsmouth Does

The Cincinnati Enquirer Monday printed the following complimentary story about the Bureau of Community Service:

"No matter what you want to know in Portsmouth, Ohio, or to do, in the way of community betterment, all that is necessary is to call the office of the community service."

Three years ago Portsmouth had a social survey made, and the organization of the Bureau of Community Service was the result. All of the various agencies in the city which were working for social betterment were organized under one head.

If there is a case of domestic violence, which needs attention, and you think something should be done, you call the Bureau of Community Service. If there is serious illness in a family, and no one to attend them, you call the Bureau of Community Service. If a playground is wanted, call the community service. There it is, that you know you will not be obliged to waste your time calling dozens of people in order to get your plan across. If you have one. And if you haven't a plan, you know there is one to be had by calling the Bureau of Community Service.

There are two joint directors and four paid assistants in charge of the Bureau, and in summer time there are seven more playground workers. Then, of course, there are committees which include all the people who are vitally interested in the plans.

Once a week there is a meeting of the entire executive committee, in this way they are able to cooperate with all of the agencies in the city and county which are working along allied lines.
